The 2010 Kia Soul has earned top safety ratings from IIHS. To earn a top safety pick a vehicle must get top ratings in front, side, and rear tests. View the videos by clicking "Read More"

To earn a top safety pick a vehicle must get top ratings in front, side, and rear tests. They must also be equipped with electronic stability control. While none of these things make a car any more fun to drive, they certainly make them more comforting to crash. The IIHS was kind enough to send us some Kia Soul carnage, which you can view below.
